

To whom it may concern,

This letter is to officially certify that Evangelia Loutrianaki is a Global Schools Advocate on behalf of the Global Schools Program, an initiative of the United Nations Sustainable Development Solutions Network (SDSN). From August 2024 to January 2025, Evangelia Loutrianaki will serve as a local advocate of the program and work to integrate education for sustainable development into lessons and activities within their school in Greece. Please see their name on our website to verify their status and affiliation with our program.

Global Schools is an initiative of the SDSN in support of UNESCO's Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) for 2030 Roadmap. Approximately 390 educators from ~90 countries and territories were selected out of ~3,000 applicants to become Global Schools Advocates. They completed one month of rigorous training on crucial aspects of Sustainable Development and ESD. These dedicated educators are responsible for localizing and integrating global citizenship, sustainability, and 21st-century skills into school communities. They will provide students with the knowledge, values, and skills required to work towards a sustainable and prosperous world.

The primary responsibilities of the Advocates include:

1. Complete the online training.

Advocates participated in a training program to develop their understanding of sustainable development, Global Schools, and Education for Sustainable Development (ESD).

2. Introduce ESD to their school.

Advocates will be given various suggested activities, resources, letters, and a workshop guide in order to introduce ESD to their students, department, and school leadership.

3. Integrate ESD activities in classrooms and/or the school community.

Advocates received a toolkit to guide them in developing a long-term strategy to implement ESD in their classrooms and/or school. Advocates are not required to implement a defined curriculum.

4. Share their Journey.

Advocates will be tasked with sharing their experiences with Global Schools and other Advocates. They can also share initiatives with school leadership, parents, and the greater community.

5. Encourage their respective schools to sign the Global Schools Pledge.

Advocates are encouraged to invite their schools to sign the Global Schools Pledge on the website to join our community of practice. The Global Schools Pledge should be signed by a school administrator.

We look forward to building a better world together and supporting Advocates on this journey. Please reach out to globalschools@unsdsn.org with any inquiries.
